of permanent interior walls. Class spaces are created as much as possible through the use of dividers. This permits classes of varying sizes and use of the same spaces for multiple purposes. Sound is controlled with easily maintained carpeting, and specially treated acoustical ceiling. Laboratories, offices, and those few classrooms that require permanent definition, flank the school's large multi-purpose commons area. The commons space is also circulation space, a locker area for students, a lobby for the gymnasium, lunch line space for the cafeteria, an auditorium for plays and lectures, and facility for school dances and other activities. Individual student initiative is being encouraged by employment of an intensively studied modular scheduling system that this new school building makes possible. Since some subjects take more, others less, time to learn than other subjects, students really learn at their own pace. The class period system has become one of modules of 15 to 20 minutes that can be assembled into many combinations. This new system encourages the best uses of faculty and student time and the best uses of the building itself.

Dear Editors:

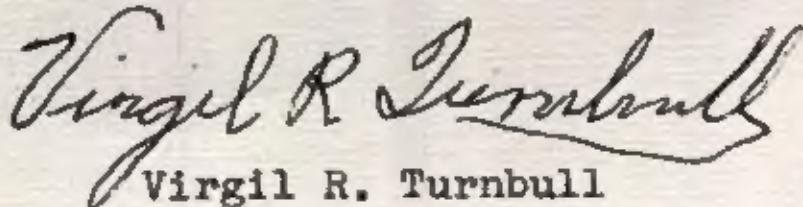

The success of the first year of Highland High School has been a result of the fine cooperation, hard work and spirit of the faculty, students and patrons.

The student body especially needs to be commended for the contributions they have made that will set precedents for the students that will follow.

Without the dedication of the faculty, it would have been impossible to implement the type of educational program offered through modular scheduling.

As the doors of Highland High School opened this year, the doors of unlimited knowledge and learning were opened to all the students of the school district both present and future.

Sincerely yours,

Virgil R. Turnbull

Superintendent, Lewis County C-1

To you, the pioneers, for providing a precedent and tradition for Highland High School, I offer my congratulations. In years to come as you look back on your high school years, highlighted by the pages of this book, you are bound to encounter with pride the thought that you were the first. You operated under the handicap of newness and were constantly subjected to the tough scrutiny of the pessimistic who said it wouldn't work. Highland High School is not complete; it is only begun. Again, congratulations! You did your job and you did it well.

THANKS TO ALL THE STUDENTS WHO GAVE ME THEIR TOTAL COOPERATION
THROUGHOUT THE SCHOOL YEAR. I HAVE NEVER WORKED WITH SUCH A GREAT
GROUP OF STUDENTS. IT HAS BEEN MY PLEASURE TO HAVE YOU IN CLASS, TO WORK WITH YOU IN ATHLETICS, AND TO DEAL WITH YOU AS A PERSON. WHEN WE REMEMBER THE 1970-71 SCHOOL YEAR,
LET'S REMEMBER JUST THE GOOD TIMES
BECAUSE EVEN WITH ALL THINGS CON-SIDERED, THERE HAVE BEEN MANY OF THEM.

Gordon May

Mr. Everett McClellan began the year at Highland as Principal. His resignation became effective as of January 1, 1971, and his contract was completed. Gordon May, the head basketball coach, was appointed to serve in his place for the remainder of the school year. He assumed such duties as discipline and commons supervision in addition to his regular coaching duties.

Everett McClellan

William Sandknop

Trevor Pilcher

Virgil Zuspann

There were three elementary school principals in the district in 1970-71. William Sandknop was in charge of the Ewing school, Trevor Pilcher was in charge of the school at LaGrange, and Virgil Zuspann was in charge of school at Lewistown and LaBelle. Students from grades one through six attended school at Ewing. In LaGrange, grades one through eight were taught, with Ewing's junior high students attending here. Lewistown had the first and second grade and a junior high school attended by students who had in the past attended both Lewistown and LaBelle. At LaBelle, grades one through six met, with students from Lewistown also attending grades three through six. Each town had a first and second grade, but many older students were bussed to another school in order to provide a more standardized program than might have been possible under the old system. Even grade school pupils began to become acquainted with students from other towns to make attending junior high and high school easier later on in their educational career.

Robert F. Shouse*

Born August 24, 1921 Died November 8, 1970

Age 49 years, 2 months and 14 days

"Outstanding service rendered in serving our community as a school bus driver for 28 years."

Robert Frank Shouse was born August 24, 1921, in Lewis County, Mo. He died November 8, 1970, in St. Mary's Hospital, Quincy, Ill., at the age of 49.

He was a school bus driver for the district for 28 years. He also hauled fertilizer, lime, water, and gravel. He did custom combining, and was successful in farming.

Everyone who knew Bob liked him, particularly the students he transported to and from school over the years. He was a man who is, and will be missed.

As a memorial, his family donated a set of Mythology books to the Highland Library, to be used by the young people he liked so well.

Perhaps the best thing about being a junior is that there's only one year left. We still have all the fun of the senior year to come and only a few of us have begun to seriously consider the responsibilities that will appear at this time next year. So far, our thoughts have centered around the prom and classes. Our own graduation seems far away. Most of us can't wait, but a few of the more sentimental watch the seniors in their caps and gowns with mixed emotions. "We're next!" "Seniors '72!" Announcements, pictures, baccalaureate, graduation...next year they're ours! "I can't wait...I think."

Juniors Learn About The Great War

Mr. Roy Haydon, World War II Veteran from LaBelle came to talk to the junior American History class in February. Mr. Haydon related to the class some personal experiences of his. He told of the mine ship on which he served in the North Atlantic. How the mines were laid and what their purposes were was also discussed. Mr. Haydon told of his ship sinking a German submarine and the capturing of another. He spoke of his leaves which he spent in London, England, sightseeing at many historical sites. He talked of how the people of Scotland felt towards and reacted to the Armistice Day truce. Juniors enjoyed this break in classroom routine.

Chess Craze Hits Highland

One of the biggest things to hit Highland in 1971 was the craze for chess. Several people began playing chess in the commons during IST and before too many weeks had gone by, it was nearly impossible to find a table that didn't have at least one chessboard set up. Boys seemed to enjoy playing the game more than girls, but some girls did participate in the chess tournament held in March and April. Even teachers got into the act, either as players (of varying ability) and advisors (of dubious value).

Success Becomes Reality When Failure Becomes Illusion

"Success becomes reality when failure becomes illusion". This was the motto of the first Junior Class of '71'. Otherwise known as the Senior Class of '72'. The one big goal the Juniors had was to have the first, (and maybe the best ever) Junior-Senior prom of Highland High School. The Juniors did accomplish having the first prom, the big event took place May 21st., and was held at the Starlight Terrace in Quincy, Illinois. During the year the class chose its colors, and flower. Their colors were purple and white, and the flower was the Orchid.

Besides planning and putting on the Junior-Senior Prom, the juniors received class rings in April, which they thought would never arrive. The ring is of a round style with the students choice of colored stone, mounted on top. On the outside edge of the top, is the school name, "Highland High", on one side of the ring are the emblems representing fine arts, science, athletic ability, and penmanship. On the other side the rings have the year the class graduates, "1972," above a full side view of a Cougar standing on his hind legs. Below the Cougar's feet is the word "Cougars."

Ricky Freeman, sophomore member of FFA, traveled to state fairs judging breeds of cattle during October. Ricky and his group were the top dairy judges in the Missouri State Fair. From there he went to Columbus, Ohio, for the national judging contest. At Columbus, he was ranked 23 out of 32. During the first two days he practiced judging at four other towns within 25 miles of Columbus. On Monday, Oct. 12, at Columbus, they judged cattle. They received the results of the contest at 5:30 that evening. The top team was New York. Ricky's group was the sixth tie team in giving oral reasons for placing one breed of cattle over the other. From Columbus he went to Kansas City to attend the American Royal. There were two others from Lewis county chosen to attend the American Royal, besides Ricky. In Kansas City they toured the city and learned of different agricultural careers that were available.

Six Freshmen girls stood by the Freshmen basketball teams and supported their school all the way the past year. The Freshmen cheerleaders were Sharon Humphrey, Darla Boyer, Cindy Baus, Debbie Brockmier, Anne Frisby and Karen Pomeroy. These six girls worked very hard to perfect their cheers all year, by staying after school many nights to practice. Their long practices paid off very well. When these girls went out on the floor or even standing on the side lines to cheer, everyone at the ball-games sat back and took notice of their routines.

Studies in math involved the vocabulary and fundamentals of geometry, including basic geometric construction with the use of the compass and protractor. Special attention was given the relationships that exist in the various angles formed in these figures. It also involved a more detailed study of the topics discussed in the seventh grade. The studies included the family of polygons, circles, prisms, and cylinders. Formulas were also discussed to determine the perimeter, circumference, area, and volume of the above geometrical figures.

The eighth grade at Lewistown also worked on a study of the Invertebrates under the direction of Miss Albers, the science instructor. The class did a bulletin board on "Space," and "Population Explosion."

This course was titled "Remedial Math," and was financed under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The school district had to meet certain requirements set forth by the Missouri Department of Education in order to have the course.

Mrs. Mary Ruth McConnell directed the program. Teacher's aide for the course was Miss Lynne Schweitzer.

The eighth grade history classes studied the Missouri Constitution and the United States Constitution this year. Each student had to pass a test over each constitution before the end of the year. During their studies of these two constitutions, the classes learned much about the workings of our state and national government. The students learned many new things about our type of government. Other studies in history were about the founding and history of our country. The classes learned much to make them appreciate our country's great heritage.

In arts and crafts the students worked with leather, making articles such as purses, belts, key cases, and photograph album covers.

In art class the students made pictures out of scratch art, by coloring the surface of the paper heavily with one or more colors of crayon, then coloring over that with black crayon and, scratching out the desired design. Among other projects the art class did, was making pillow cases, gun cases, rugs, pillows and designs from burlap and yarn.

Paper mache animals designs from burlap were made and displayed in the school trophy case. The class found a new use for toothpicks by construction designs and structures with them. In the English department one of the activities the class had every Friday was a spelling test. In literature stories were read and discussed in class, as well as outside of class. Some of the stories read were about countries such as South America and Africa. In English the students also worked to improve their use of English grammar. Math class was concerned with problems containing percents and decimals and discounts. In April the class went to Hannibal for supper and a movie. It was an enjoyable break from classes.

Class Studied History

In History the class studied from the book EXPLORING THE OLD WORLD. Some of the main events studied in the class was where civilization began, pyramids, the Near East, Western Europe, Eastern Europe, Asia, Australia and Africa. The history students each wrote to any country of their choice, asking information about the country's social life, government, education and recreation areas.

Seventh grade English class at Lewistown planned a television broadcast under the supervision of their instructor, Mrs. Martha Lou O'Dear, entitled "What's My Line?". A panel was chosen and the students were guests. Each guest imagined himself to be a character from literature and thus attempted to stump the panel. The class also read the full length novel, DAVID COPPERFIELD.

In science the class studied the five different groups of vertebrates, which are fish, birds, and mammals, amphibians, and reptiles. One of the science projects the students were assigned was to make a poster of how they thought some idea might help in solving the country's pollution problems. The student with the best poster received a $5.00 prize for their efforts. Along with exercising the P.E. classes played many different sports such as volleyball, and participated in track. The major sports classes played basketball and participated in track meets. One of the events the students had to do in chorus was sing a solo, make up their own musical instrument and play it. In May the chorus classes put on a spring program for the public.

The students in Mrs. Luker's sixth grade class have enjoyed many activities during the year 1970-71. In language arts classes, stories and poems were studied. The students developed their skills by writing original stories and poems. All of Mrs. Luker's students participated in the Pupil Reading Circle Program. In math, fractions, decimals, units of measure, and story problems were studied.

In science class, the sixth grade studied the growth of plant life by planting tomato seeds in boxes in their room. This activity provided a source of much interest to the class as they watched the growth of the class day by day.

The work in the sixth grade English class included writing letters. These concentrated on the points of correct grammar and accurate spelling. The students were also required to make one book report each month during the year.

History studies included the history of early America, and Latin American history. This included the explorations of Ferdinand Magellan and Vasco de Gama, and the study of great Latin American statesmen such as Simon Bolivar.

The students in the sixth grade developed a better understanding of the Central and South American countries and Canada as a result of social studies. One of the interesting things the class studied was active and inactive volcanoes in Central and South America. To make the study of volcanoes more interesting, the class built a volcano in the shape of a cone from plaster of Paris. Then ammonium dichromatic powder was placed in the center. When this was set on fire the volcano erupted and ashes of the burnt powder spilled over the side. Science class was made more interesting by doing all experiments and the use of the microscope. Another major field of endeavor was the development of self-discipline by the students.

Learning has increased for the sixth grade this past year. Preparing for Junior High is a lot of work, as many sixth graders discovered. In math, the multiplying and dividing of decimals added to the students knowledge of math, as did the diagramming of sentences in the language study. The usual study of South America, Central America, and Mexico took place in Social Studies. The brighter side of learning in the "fun classes," art and music led to the making of Easter baskets for the first grade, and learning to read musical notes. Parties for various holidays added sparkle to the regular school routine.

Showed Imagination

The sixth grade was engaged in many activities during the 1970-71 school year.

The activities in their art classes included work with articles made from papier mache'. They also did some work with ceramics, and experimented with painting and sketching.

The band and chorus activities included the performing of both a fall and spring concert.

The grade school was allowed to play in the gym during the winter months at LaBelle, and in order to make play more entertaining for small people, the basketball goals were lowered a foot.

The posters were displayed Friday evening, April 2, at Highland High School where the Lewis County Soil Conservation held its fish supper. These posters showed that the young artists had a great deal of concern about our country's ecology.

Class Learns About Their Country

There has been much learned about the United States in social studies class. The different sections of the country like the South Central, Northern, Midwest, and Eastern, have been studied. They have also studied the state capitals and the climates of the different sections. The fifth grade has also studied the continent of Asia along with their many other classes. The layers of the earth have been studied in the science class. They have concentrated on things like the soil and its contents. They also have learned about minerals, marble, and fossils.

Art has been a very exciting and busy class. They have even made a newspaper city. By this, it is meant that they used newspapers and formed buildings to construct a city. The printing made the buildings look like they had brick sides. With clay they made mushrooms and toadstools, which they painted afterwards. During the Easter season they made special projects for Easter. A conservation poster was made by each class, and they also made pictures out of yarn glued on gunny sacks.

Mrs. Swartz's fifth grade class has kept busy this year in a variety of classes. The English class has worked with words and the contractions that are made from them. They have also studied the good usage of verbs. The students have a writing section in which they tried to improve their own handwriting. The Math class has done some graphing during the earlier part of the year. There have also been studies of fractions. They have learned to add and subtract fractions which are like and unlike.

During the past year the fifth grade class of Lou Ella Swartz reviewed the four fundamental arithmetic processes and worked more difficult problems in each. Of some of the areas involving math the class learned the meaning of perimeter and area, and worked problems dealing with both. The class was introduced to decimals, also, algebraic, and geometric terms were studied.

Social Studies introduced the class to all areas of continental United States, and the newest states, Alaska and Hawaii. The class studied the natural regions of our country, studied the states in their various groups, learned all fifty states and capitols, and other interesting important facts about each group.

History was woven into class studies in such a manner that the class gained a great appreciation of our country's great heritage and of our country as it is today.

The fourth grade, taught by Mrs. Morgret, has made a study of the different regions of the world according to natural resources or manufactured products. In science class they studied the basic changes in the earth, plants, animals, and the air. After mastering the multiplication and division facts, they put them to good use by working with larger numbers and measurements. Graphs and fractions were also a part of their mathematical study. A better written language, along with correct spelling and pronunciation of new and old words helped to make reading more meaningful as well as a pleasure.

We have been studying the "New Math", for the first time in grade 4. Fractions have been introduced, whereby creating much interest. In Social Studies we have been studying all the Continents of the world which has been quite interesting, when compared to our own way of life. The aim of which is to learn how to accept the varied lives of people of the world. Much interest is in evidence in the unit of study in our own state of Missouri, in a text book entitled, "Where Rivers Meet." The class made individual booklets of interesting facts and pictures of historical significance of the role our state played in the setting of the West.

Brightly painted sea horses, made from various shapes of macaroni and spaghetti, and colorful paper globes showing longitudinal lines, the equator and continents were special culminating projects of the LaGrange fourth grade, in a science and social studies unit, through the efforts of team teaching. During the past year the boys and girls learned with enthusiasm, to play tonettes under the direction of Mr. Ellsworth Mumma.

The fourth grade studied a wide range of subject material. In mathematics, we studied geometry, fractions, and graphs. Social Studies included learning about the forest, manufacturing, and political regions of the world. The students have also coordinated maps, murals, and graphs with their subject material during the past year. One of the students' most enjoyable subjects was science. Besides working on experiments, they learned about climate, the planets, and weather around the world. Students also gave reports on the Apollo moon landings, and on the extinction of some animals due to pollution.

In the various subjects the students met new experiences and studies. During the year the class explored mathematics in the areas of addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, measure, and fractions. Journeys were taken to places near and far in social studies.

Third Grade Learns Basic Needs Of People

The third graders learned cursive writing this year. They have also learned to write letters, stories, and reports, and can use the dictionary. The basic needs of people have been the subject of study in their social studies class. Their studies in science have centered around the physical aspects of our world, and the students have done experiments related to this. The third graders' main accomplishment in math was to learn how to read a problem and think how to solve it. Mrs. Jacquelyn Neese, third grade teacher, thought 1970-71 has been a busy year for these students, and they have added a lot to their education during the year.

One section of the Ewing third grade had ten boys and seven girls. John Paxton attended Ewing Elementary School for the first time. The students had two teachers, Mrs. Glessie Reese and Mrs. Margaret Turnbull. The students accepted the responsibility for several jobs in their classroom. Each child traced around his hand which was placed by a specific job on a "Helping Hands" chart. The jobs were assigned each week with each child having some job every week. In social studies a unit about Indians created much interest. Some of the projects involved in the study were making an Indian village, jewelry with dyed corn, pottery and Indian objects with salt clay, and making a replica of an Indian drum. Some of the projects were displayed in the trophy case in the hall.

Mrs. Neese's third grade at LaBelle has been busy this year experimenting with new types of educational procedures. They have tried different types of seating arrangements, such as semicircles and squares to provide a more relaxed classroom atmosphere, and to provide better communication between students and teacher. They have also been experimenting with a type of student tutoring. This has been done by seating a better student with a slower student. They have tried to determine if this has produced an overall improvement in the class.

The second graders worked hard this year to prepare themselves for the next grade. In spelling, most of the work was in rhyming words, which made it easier for the students to learn to spell. They also began to learn to write cursive, and spelling words were written cursively. They covered the correct usage of words in their language studies, and have also learned to write sentences. They studied story writing, and drew pictures to illustrate the stories they wrote.

The students in Miss Sullivan's second grade feel that they have accomplished a great deal this year. They have completed all required second grade material. Most of the class is well prepared to enter third grade this fall. The students studied the basic courses such as reading, writing, and math.

In mathematics, basic numeral combinations were reviewed and studied during the first semester, and the second semester's studies included work on fractions, multiplication, number patterns, measurements of time, money, liquid, distance, and geometric figures of rectangles, squares, triangles, and circles. Included in their studies of science were the seasons, revolution of the earth, sources of heat, mammals, reptiles, amphibians, fish, insects, plant growth, and use of wheels, such as pulleys, ball bearings, axles, chains, and belts.

Activities of the second grade during the past school year included art work, which everyone enjoyed. Each month, the class worked on different art displays, which were correlated with their studies and the season of the year. Their art displays included a Thanksgiving theme during November, Christmas decorations during December, shamrocks and kites for March, and the April display was of Dutch girls and tulips.

The Combo Room was organized in the middle of November to alleviate the crowded conditions in the first and second grades. Mrs. Erleen Burnett taught the ten first graders and twelve second graders. One new student, William Althoff, enrolled from Payson, Illinois in December. Some of the high lights of the year were the visits of firemen and a sailor, the Christmas Program, flag study, spelling matches, science displays, and many articles brought for sharing day.

The first grade is one of the most important grades of a student's life. This is where the student begins his educational future. During the past year the first graders have had their first experiences in reading. One of the big events was participating in the Reading Circle Awards program. To qualify for the award the students had to read many books. Some read as many as 200.

Career Of School

Students in the first grade have learned much during the first year of school. Their studies have included reading, math, science, health, and social studies. In math, they have learned to add and subtract, learned the number families through ten, and have developed the concept of a point and a line. In science, the first graders learned about the seasons, and did experiments in order to find out how plants grow from seeds or bulbs. They have also watched tadpoles develop into frogs. The students' Weekly Readers have kept them interested and informed about current events.

The Ewing first grade had a total of twenty-seven pupils. In art the class enjoyed changing the room decorations each month to go along with the season to create a festive atmosphere in which to work. Contests and Reading games encouraged interest in the reading program. Almost all the pupils earned a reading Circle Certificate. The students put into practice the phonics they learned and had fun spelling words and writing stories to go along with their reading and social studies work. In math they learned the combinations to ten, used the number line in studying "greater than" and "less than". The class enjoyed arithmetic games to help strengthen the basic arithmetic combinations. They felt they had a very good year and are looking forward to becoming second graders.

The Special Education Intermediate class, under the supervision of Velma L. Summers, was presented a chord organ by the Space Federettes Club of Monticello. Several craft and art projects were accomplished besides the regular work done individually or as a group. The Primary Special Education class had eleven members. The class participated in the program at the October P.T.A. meeting at LaBelle School. They honored Columbus Day in their part of the program. Mrs. Rozella Grimes, spoke to the group about some of the objectives of Special Education. The Special Education students were happy because each student had his share to do.

The journalism class worked very hard during the past year putting out the school paper. The Claw covered all school events such as dances, basketball games, and activities. Each copy contained news stories, feature stories, and editorials. In March, The Claw was entered in the Northeast Missouri Academic Contest. The paper received a II rating, and was ranked third in the Northeast Missouri District.

Journalism Class Puts Out Publications

To those outside of Journalism, putting out a school paper and yearbook may seem to be an easy job. However, this idea is completely wrong. Journalism is one of the few classes in which the student works longer and harder than he gets credit for. In putting out The Claw, the student body's interests were considered, and much time and planning also went into the layout and material of The Modu-Lair.

F.F.A. Chooses Sweetheart

The Lewis County C-I F.F.A. Chapter's Annual Barnwarming was held October 24 at the Ewing School. The dance was entered by crawling through a tunnel of hay. Music was provided by The Odyssey. Two girls from each class were chosen candidates for F.F.A. Sweetheart of 1970-71. Representing the Freshman class were Diane Seals and Sharon Humphrey. Sophomore candidates were Carol O'Dear and Peggy Palmer; Junior candidates, Patra Westhoff and Mickie Leftwich; and Senior candidates, Diane Smith and Lonna Wiseman. Each candidate gave a hog call, drew a farm animal of her choice, imitated the animal she drew, and drove a nail through a piece of wood. The candidates were graded by unknown judges. Peggy Palmer was crowned F.F.A. Sweetheart by Janet McCracken, last year's winner. Miss Palmer received an F.F.A. jacket with an F.F.A. emblem.

Highland Celebrates Sadie Hawkins Day

The Highland Pep Club sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Day on February 12. The students dressed in the way they felt was appropriate for Sadie Hawkins Day. The pep club also held a dance for all students of Highland and their guests, Saturday night, February 13, from 8:30 P.M. to 11:30 P.M. The band playing for the dance was the "Rock Foundation" from Hannibal. The students dressed up for the dance also, and a five dollar prize was awarded to the most appropriately dressed couple. Beth Ann Humphrey and her date Bobby Bringer, were the winners. Refreshments were served during the dance.

Many exciting and unusual events occurred December 16, 1970. The seniors decided that the school needed a Christmas tree and decorations to express the Christmas cheer. The senior class decorated the tree after school on the 16th. The tree went through quite a bit before it became decorated. In chopping of the 20-foot tree, Bruce Primm, Butch Robertson, Sammy Wilson, and Benny Bozarth did a good job. When they got the tree to the school, it was too tall, so the extra height was cut out of the top. Thanks to the Ewing school, the problems of a stand for the tree was solved. Ewing donated the stand they had used in the past years.

Seniors Donate Christmas Ornaments And Decorate Tree

A very special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. William Durst for their help in transporting and getting the tree. Also to Mr. Joe Cunningham for the donation of the tree. The senior class members brought and donated decorations for the tree and office.

A Christmas dance was held in the Highland gymnasium on Saturday, December 19, from 8:00 to 11:30 p.m. The music was provided by the Sound of Soul, a group composed of members from Hannibal LaGrange. The group played a variety of music. The dance was a semi-formal affair. This allowed for different tastes in dress. The evening's highlight was the drawing for the door prize, a transistor radio. Only those who attended the dance were eligible to win. The winner of the radio was Donnie McGee, a freshman at Highland. The dance was sponsored by the Student Council and planned by the Student Council's social committee.

The scores of the first two matches were 15-3 and 15-9. The third game had to be called because of time; however, at its end the girls were ahead by a sizable margin.

The HHS girls, termed the "Dirty Dozen", were Lonna Wiseman, Pam Gant, Mickie Leftwich, Vickie Leftwich, Kathy Bledsoe, Judy Bailey, Teresa Coates, Deb Hawkins, Audrey Scifres and Jennilee Scifres. The "Work Area Warriors" was made up of Cheryl "Amblin" Ames, Linda "Bomber" Brooks, Elizabeth "Bad-Eye" Bradley, Velma "Wild" Washburn, Sharon "Windy" Wallace, Pat "Cool Hand" Cason, Jean "Woolley" Wehmeyer, Carol "Hustling" Heller, Maureen "Mighty" Morrow, Janet "Gritty" Griesbaum, Jane "Bullet" Barton, and Mildred "Shifty" Schaffer. ## Marching Cougars Participate In Area Parades

The Cougar band at Highland was very active in its first year. The uniforms consisted of gold shirts, black pants, and sashes of black with gold lettering. The forty-two piece band got along well from the beginning of the year. They participated in the Mark Twain Marching Band Festival in October, which was in Hannibal. Band officers were elected in September; they were: Jeff Gantt, President; Chris Redman, Vice President; Anita Ridge, Secretary; and Pam Gant, Treasurer. Class Representatives were: Janet McCracken; Senior, Mike Harsell; Junior; Susan Swan; Sophomore; Cindy Baus; Freshman. The Marching Cougars were invited to march at Culver Stockton Homecoming at Canton, but due to lack of uniforms, they were not able to attend. The band did march in several parades.
